1. What you are agreeing to

You agree that photographs, video and audio recordings of you made for this project may be used in the ways described below. You are not being paid for this, and you are giving permission freely.

2. How the recordings may be used

For the project itself and for publicising it: on websites and social media, in printed material, in presentations and in press coverage. They may be edited, cropped or shortened, so long as the result is not misleading and does not put you in a false light.

3. Your name

Your name may be shown alongside the recordings, or left off, whichever the project decides unless you have asked in writing for it to be left off.

4. Changing your mind

You may withdraw this permission at any time by writing to the project. Material already published or printed before then can stay where it is, but nothing new will be published after your request arrives.

5. Ownership

The recordings belong to the person or organisation that made them. This form is your permission for them to be used, not a transfer of anything you own.

Initial here to confirm you have read and understood how the recordings may be used, and that you are giving this permission freely:
